

The Carbon Advocate.

H. V. MORTIMER, EDITOR.
LEHIGHTON, PA.
SATURDAY MORNING AUGUST 29 1874.

The Secretary of the New York Board of Emigration estimates that the total number of immigrants to this country during the present year will be about 185,000. This is 138,000 less than in 1873.

There is nothing taking place in reference to the Ross case at present, except the mailing of a postal card to postmasters and others, having upon it a likeness of the stolen boy, and an announcement of a reward of $20,000 for his recovery, with a full description of the child.

The Pittsburg Commercial says that a large amount of money has been borrowed in and around the city during the last thirty or sixty days upon collateral of pig iron. This is a usual thing at this time of the year, but the still fostered hope of rapid improvement in the prices of iron has had a tendency to increase the volume of transactions of this description considerably beyond the habitual limits this summer. Holders of iron and its products express themselves as full of confidence in a rapid and considerable rise to take place early in the fall, consequent upon the demand from jobbers and others who require to lay in full stocks ere the colder weather sets in.

A Washington dispatch of the 24th, says it has been ascertained from a reliable source that Spain, instead of carrying into effect the understanding of the Fish-Pole protocol, namely, to investigate the conduct of those of its authorities who have infringed on the Spanish laws or treaty obligations, and to punish those who may have offended, have made a demand of indemnity in the affair of Virginia, and for other alleged wrongs suffered by Spain owing to the filibustering expeditions fitted out in this country, and landing, or attempting to land man and munitions of war on the Spanish-American coast. To this demand our Government has replied in firm but courteous terms, asserting the untenability of the position of the Spanish Government, and reminding it of the remissions or the inexcusable delay in making reparation for the wrongs suffered by American citizens in person and property. The latest information from Minister Cushing is that he is still pressing our demands on Spain. It seems certain that the clause in the protocol providing that reciprocal reclamations shall be the subject of reconsideration between the two governments will not end satisfactorily, in which case it will become the subject of arbitration as per agreement, providing the constitutional assent of the Senate of the United States shall be given to it.

Politics and the election canvasses are beginning to get lively again. Numerous States conventions are now being held, and with next week will open the usual round of autumn elections. Owing to the fact that the Forty-fourth Congress is chiefly chosen this fall, the approaching elections will be animated, and in most of the States an exciting canvass is anticipated. Vermont opens the series next Tuesday, September 1st, a Governor being chosen there as well as Congressman. On September 2d, Wyoming, and on the 8th, Colorado elect delegates to Congress. On the 14th, Maine chooses a Governor. On October 13th elections are held in Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska, the latter State electing a Governor. That is the day on which our Pennsylvania election would have been held had not the new Constitution postponed it until November. Georgia votes October 14th, for a Legislature; South Carolina the 21st, and West Virginia the 23d, Louisiana holds her election November 2. On November 3, which is the "Tuesday after the first Monday in November," the series closes, but on that day the bulk of the autumn elections are held the commonwealths that vote being: Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Arizona, Dakota, Idaho, and Washington. In twelve of the above States Governors are to be chosen.

Prof. E. B. Elliot, of Washington, has prepared some curious statistics of the cost of the National Government per capita, under different administrations. The statistics are not strictly speaking for administration periods, but for four fiscal years approximating the different Presidential administrations. Except in consequence of wars, the cost of the Government per capita does not appear to vary greatly, even during extended periods of years. Thus, the cost per head from 1791 to 1792 was $1.32, from 1792 to 1796 $1.39, for the four years ending in 1800 $1.60, and for the four years ending in 1804, $1.47. The four years ending in 1816, including the war period, raised the cost to $3.95, but the cost was soon reduced again, and did not during any one period exceed $1.87, until the Mexican war period, when it reached $2.05. In the two terms immediately preceding the rebellion, the cost increased to $3.33 and $2.23, and in the first four years of the war they mounted to $25.10 in currency, or $16.76 in gold. In the four years of the Lincoln and Johnson administrations, the cost was $10.88 in currency, or $7.79 in gold per head. During the first term of President Grant, the cost was reduced to $7.37 in currency, or $6.37 in gold. If the expenses growing out of the rebellion be deducted from this whole cost, the expenditure per capita was only $1.96 in currency, or $1.69 in gold, being no greater in fact than the cost per capita during extended periods of peace in the first half century of the nation's existence.

The Pennsylvania Democratic Convention.

Pittsburg, Aug. 26.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order at 11:30 A. M. to day in Library Hall, by Dr. Nebinger, chairman of the State Committee. He said it devolved upon the delegates to put before the people a platform of principles of the Democratic faith, and it remained with the Convention to decide whether the old Keystone State would be wheeled into the Democratic line or remain with the Republican party. [Applause.]

The calling of the roll showed that there was a very full representation of chosen delegates, but in some instances substitutes were announced, while there were a number of contested seats.

The Hon. Wm. A. Wallace and J. Ellis were nominated for temporary Chairman, Mr. Wallace representing Mr. Ross, and Mr. Ellis representing Mr. Dallas for Supreme Judge. A viva voce vote resulted in the choice of Mr. Wallace, by 739 to 93, which was afterward made unanimous.

Mr. Wallace was conducted to the Chair by Mr. Ellis and returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him. He said he would not speak upon the issues of the day, but would ask the aid of the convention in the enforcement of the rules that may be adopted. He invoked a spirit of harmony, and also the outspoken utterances of the principles of the great party.

William H. Witte presented a resolution that a committee of one from each Senatorial District be appointed to which all resolutions shall be referred without debate. Carried.

Committees on permanent organization and on resolutions were then selected and the Convention took a recess until 4 P. M.

The Convention reassembled shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon, when the Committee on Permanent Organization presented their report recommending the Hon. William A. Wallace for permanent Chairman with a large number of Vice-Presidents and Secretaries, which was adopted.

The report of the Committee on Resolutions was called for, but it was announced that they would not be able to report until to-morrow morning.

The Convention then proceeded to ballot for candidate for Supreme Judge. Five ballots were taken.

On the fifth ballot the vote for Ross was one-third of the total vote cast. During the balloting considerable excitement prevailed. After the announcement of the fifth ballot a motion was made to adjourn until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. This was resisted by the Ross element, but was carried by a vote of 135 against 100, and the Convention adjourned until that time.

Among the important features of the platform which it is believed will be adopted are the demanding of restrictions upon national banks and the denouncing of the attempt to procure decisions from the Supreme Court adverse to the new Constitution, and a determination to oppose mixed schools, believing that the co-education of whites and blacks would be detrimental to both races.

Pittsburg, 27th.—At 9 o'clock this morning, and upon being called to order the plan of operations was at once promulgated. John R. Reed, of Philadelphia, withdrew the name of Mr. Dallas, Mr. McCormick, of Indiana, withdrew the name of Mr. Clarke. Mr. Jones, of Erie, withdrew the name of Mr. Turkey. Colonel Dechart, in withdrawing the name of Judge Ludlow, said that the friends of this gentleman did not enter into contest for delegates anywhere except in Philadelphia, and dwelt upon the magnanimity of a great party towards one who had borne the burden of the campaign. But he now, on behalf of his friends, withdrew that gentleman's name. Upon this withdrawal there was great applause. The fight was now squarely between J. W. Woodward and Henry P. Ross.

Balloting was at once proceeded with. The result was as follows:—Woodward, 128; Ross, 108.

The next business in order being the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, the names of fifteen gentlemen were presented. Wm. H. Snowden, on the first ballot received 30; H. M. North, of Lancaster, 30; James H. Stewart, of Allegheny, 27; Jacob Zeigler, of Butler, 27; John S. Morton, of Philadelphia, 30; the others being scattered.

FIFTH BALLOT.
Latta.....145
Snowden..... 52
Kane..... 28
The nomination of Mr. Latta was then made unanimous.

On the re-assembling at 3:15 P. M., Justice J. Temple, of Green county, was nominated for Auditor General, and General Wm. McCandless, of Philadelphia, for Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The report of the committee on platform was adopted, and convention adjourned sine die.

West Branch Camp Meeting.

To the Editor of THE CARBON ADVOCATE:
DEAR SIR,—It has been my good fortune since I left Carbon County to meet some fine people, and see a great many fine sights. But I must say that never have I had a finer time than I had on Thursday last, on the Camp grounds of the West Branch camp meeting association, now being used by the Methodists of Clinton County.

I took the 9 o'clock train for Wayne Station and after a five mile ride along the banks of Pennsylvania's grandest stream, viz: Susquehanna river, we arrived at Wayne. The village is by no means large or even attractive, but to have seen the twenty-four licensed backs standing in rotation one would have thought a great city lay in the distance. A walk was proposed in preference to a ride. After we had walked a mile in the dust my companion called my attention to a large frame structure half hidden among the Pine-trees on the grounds. The Tabernacle was visited, a frame building furnished with a gallery all around; it is used when the weather will not permit religious services to be held out of doors. Passing up West Branch Avenue we came to the restaurant, the telegraph and news office, the baggage rooms; and then to the Circle, a large open square where services are held; along the outside of the circle two-story tents, (wooden) with sheets hung up in place of doors, some finely carpeted, with Brussels, (remining one of the manner in which their occupants live when at home,) from the little avenues of McElhatten, Susquehanna, West Branch, and another one (unknown to me) the circle has a capacity of holding a thousand or more people; the Auditorium at one end is a frame structure two-stories high, the first floor is open and is furnished with a reading desk, organ, sofa, and chairs. The second story is the sleeping apartments of ministers not occupying tents. Walking out McElhatten avenue to Clinton place we visited the gas house, a small frame building resembling a switchman's shanty on a railroad; passing down Forest avenue we came to the butcher shop; and the store where can be found bread, potatoes, apples and everything needful for man's subsistence; the inner man can be satisfied without any difficulty. Two boarding tents and a restaurant filled with every thing found in first rate eating saloons, so tempting it looked that I had to go in. The afternoon was spent in the woods. In the evening the circle reminded one of a park it was lit up with gas all around. The ride home was a lovely one, the moon was at its height of brightness; the river was calm; the cars sped on; and before we were aware of it, Lock Haven was reached, our homes sought, and then we lay down to a peaceful slumber. The recollections of a day spent at Wayne will always find a place in our memory.

Lock Haven, Pa., Aug. 24, 1874.

Havana, August 26.—Advice from Porto Rico to-day report that there was a terrible earthquake on that island this morning. The houses rocked frightfully and for two minutes and people rushed from houses in the wildest alarm.
